REPORT OF THE INDEPENDENT AUDITORS TO THE MEMBER OF GCL GLOBAL RESOURCES SGP PTE. LIMITED

Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of GCL Global Resources SGP Pte. Limited (the "Company"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2016, and the statements of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the financial year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with the provisions of the Singapore Companies Act, Chapter 50 (the "Act") and Singapore Financial Reporting Standards, and for devising and maintaining a system of internal accounting controls sufficient to provide reasonable assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorised use or disposition; and transactions are properly authorised and that they are recorded as necessary to permit the preparation of true and fair financial statements and to maintain accountability of assets.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Singapore Standards on Auditing. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditors consider internal controls relevant to the entity's preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal controls. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

1. General

GCL Global Resources SGP Pte. Limited (the "Company") (Registration Number 200914347E) is incorporated and domiciled in Singapore with its registered office at 133 Cecil Street, #16-01 Keck Seng Tower, Singapore 069535.

The principal activities of the Company are investment holding company and general wholesale trading. The principal activity of the subsidiary is disclosed in Note 7 to the financial statements.

The Company's immediate and ultimate holding company is Goa Carbon Limited, a company incorporated in India.

The financial statements of the Company for the financial year ended 31 March 2016 were authorised for issue by the Board of Directors on 11 April 2016.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies

2.1 Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been drawn up in accordance with the provisions of the Singapore Companies Act, Chapter 50 (the "Act") and Singapore Financial Reporting Standards ("FRS") including related Interpretations of FRS ("INT FRS") and are prepared on the historical cost basis, except as disclosed in the accounting policies below.

The financial statements are measured and presented in the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates (its functional currency). The financial statements are presented in Singapore dollar ("S$") which is also the functional currency of the Company.

In the current financial year, the Company has adopted all the new and revised FRS and INT FRS that are relevant to its operations and effective for the annual period beginning on or after 1 January 2015. The adoption of these new/revised FRSs and INT FRSs did not result in changes to the Company's accounting policies and has no material effect on the amounts reported for the current or prior years.

FRSs and INT FRSs issued but not yet effective

At the date of authorisation of these financial statements, the following FRSs and INT FRSs that are relevant to the Company were issued but not yet effective:

		Effective date (annual periods beginning on or after)
FRS 1	Amendments to FRS 1 Disclosure Initiative	1 January 2016
FRS 109	Financial Instruments	1 January 2018
FRS 114	Regulatory Deferral Accounts	1 January 2016
FRS 115	Revenue from Contracts with Customers	1 January 2018
Various	Improvements to FRSs (November 2014)	Various

The management anticipates that the adoption of the above FRSs and INT FRSs in future periods will not have a material impact on the financial statements, and in particular, to the financial position and financial performance, in the period of their initial adoption.

2.2 Basis of consolidation

These financial statements are the separate financial statements of GCL Global Resources SGP Pte. Limited. During the financial year, Goa Carbon (Cangzhou) Co., Ltd, a fully owned subsidiary of the Company's was liquidated. The Company loses control over the only subsidiary subsequent to the liquidation. No consolidated financial statements were prepared thereafter.

Investment in subsidiary is carried at cost less any impairment loss that has been recognised in profit or loss in the Company's separate financial statements.

When the Company loses control over a subsidiary, the profit or loss is calculated as the difference between (i) the aggregate of the fair value of the consideration received and (ii) the cost of the investment less any impairment loss.

2.3 Income tax

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

The tax currently payable is based on taxable profit for the year. Taxable profit differs from profit as reported profit or loss because it excludes items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and it further excludes items that are not taxable or tax deductible. The Company's liability for current tax is calculated using tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted in countries where the Company operates by the end of the financial year.

Deferred tax is recognised on the differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit, and are accounted for using the liability method. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognised for all taxable temporary differences and deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which deductible temporary differences can be utilised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each financial year and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax is calculated at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period when the liability is settled or the asset realised based on the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the financial year and based on the tax consequence that will follow from the manner in which the Group expects, at the end of the financial year, to recover or settle the carrying amounts of its assets and liabilities. Deferred tax is charged or credited to profit or loss, except when it relates to items charged or credited directly to equity, in which case the deferred tax is also dealt with in equity.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority and the Company intends to settle its current tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

Current and deferred tax are recognised as an expense or income in profit or loss, except when they relate to items credited or debited directly to equity, in which case the tax is also recognised directly in equity.

2.4 Foreign currency transactions and translation

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the individual entities' respective functional currencies at the exchange rates prevailing on the date of the transaction. At the end of each financial year, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing as of the end of the financial year. Non-monetary items carried at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing on the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items, and on retranslation of monetary items are included in profit or loss for the year. Exchange differences arising on the retranslation of non-monetary items carried at fair value are included in profit or loss for the year except for differences arising on the retranslation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognised directly in equity. For such non-monetary items, any exchange component of that gain or loss is also recognised directly in equity.

2.5 Impairment of intangible assets

The Company reviews the carrying amounts of its intangible assets as at each reporting date to assess for any indication of impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss (if any). Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

Irrespective of whether there is any indication of impairment, the Company also tests its intangible assets with indefinite useful lives and intangible assets not yet available for use for impairment annually by comparing their respective carrying amounts with their corresponding recoverable amounts.

The recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and its value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

An impairment loss for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds the recoverable amount is recognised immediately in profit or loss, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation decrease.

Where an impairment loss subsequently reverses, the carrying amount of the asset (cash-generating unit) is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but so that the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset (cash-generating unit) in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognised immediately in profit or loss, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the reversal of the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation increase.

2.6 Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

Effective interest method

The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial instrument and allocating the interest income or expense over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts or payments (including all fees on points paid or received that form an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the financial instrument, or where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount of the financial instrument. Income and expense are recognised on an effective interest basis for debt instruments other than those financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial assets

All financial assets are recognised on a trade date - the date on which the Company commits to purchase or sell the asset. They are initially measured at fair value, plus transaction costs, except for those financial assets classified as at fair value through profit or loss, which are initially measured at fair value.

Financial assets are classified as loans and receivables. The classification depends on the nature and purpose for which these financial assets were acquired and is determined at the time of initial recognition.

Loans and receivables

The Company's loans and receivables comprise other receivables and cash and bank balances.

Such loans and receivables are non-derivatives with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. They are measured at amortised cost, using the effective interest method less impairment. Interest is recognised by applying the effective interest rate, except for short-term receivables when the recognition of interest would be immaterial.

Impairment of financial assets

Financial assets are assessed for indicators of impairment at the end of each financial year. Financial assets are impaired where there is objective evidence that, as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the financial asset, the estimated future cash flows of the investment have been impacted.

For financial assets carried at amortised cost, the amount of the impairment is the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, discounted at the original effective interest rate.

The carrying amounts of all financial assets are reduced by the impairment loss directly with the exception of trade receivables where the carrying amount is reduced through the use of an allowance account. Changes in the carrying amount of the allowance account are recognised in profit or loss.

Derecognition of financial assets

The Company derecognises a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another entity. If the Company neither transfers nor retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset and continues to control the transferred asset, the Company recognises its retained interest in the asset and an associated liability for amounts it may have to pay. If the Company retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of a transferred financial asset, the Company continues to recognise the financial asset and also recognises a collateralised borrowing for the proceeds receivables.

Financial liabilities and equity instruments

Classification as debt or equity

Financial liabilities and equity instruments issued by Company are classified according to the substance of the contractual arrangements entered into and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

Equity instruments

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of the Company after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments are recorded at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are classified other financial liabilities.

Other financial liabilities

Other payables

Other payables and amount owing to ultimate holding company are initially measured at fair value, net of transaction costs, and are subsequently measured at amortised cost, where applicable, using the effective interest method, with interest expense recognised on an effective yield basis.

Derecognition of financial liabilities

The Company derecognises financial liabilities when, and only when, the Company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or they expire.

2.7 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash and bank balances which are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and are subject to insignificant risk of changes in value.

3. Critical accounting judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty

The Company made judgements, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that were not readily apparent from other sources in the application of the Company's accounting policies. Estimates and judgements are continually evaluated and are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be reasonable under the circumstances. Actual results may differ from the estimates.

3.1 Critical judgements made in applying the Company's accounting policies

Determination of functional currency

The Company measures foreign currency transactions in the respective functional currency. In determining the functional currencies of the respective entities, judgement is required to determine the currency that mainly influences sales prices of goods and services and of the country whose competitive forces and regulations mainly determines the sales prices of its goods and services. The functional currencies of the entities in the Company are determined based on the local management's assessment of the economic environment in which the entities operate and the respective entities' process of determining sales prices.

3.2 Key sources of estimation uncertainty

The estimates and assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year are discussed below.

3. Critical accounting judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty (continued)

3.2 Key sources of estimation uncertainty (continued)

Impairment of investment in subsidiary

At the end of each financial year, an assessment is made on whether there is objective evidence that the Company's investment in the subsidiary is impaired. The management's assessment is based on fair value less cost of disposal. The Company recognised impairment loss of Nil (2015: S$2,068,979) it the profit or loss during the current financial year. The Company's carrying amount of investment in subsidiary as at 31 March 2016 was Nil (2015: S$2,037,776) as the subsidiary was liquidated effective 8 January 2016 (Note 7).

4. Other Income

Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that the counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in a loss to the Company. The Company has adopted a policy of only dealing with creditworthy counterparties and obtaining sufficient collateral where appropriate, as a means of mitigating the risk of financial loss from defaults. The Company performs ongoing credit evaluation of its counterparties' financial condition and generally does not require collateral.

The Company's major classes of financial assets are bank balances and other receivables.

The maximum credit risk is represented by the carrying amount of each financial asset in the statement of financial position.

Foreign currency risk

The Company is exposed to foreign currency risk on certain expenses, monetary assets and liabilities that are denominated in currencies other than functional currencies of the respective entities in the Company. The currencies giving rise to this risk are primarily the Indian Rupee and United States dollar. The Company does not have any derivative financial instruments to hedge its foreign currency risk. The Company's exposure to foreign currency risk relates mainly to its cash in bank which are denominated in USD and amount owing to ultimate holding company which is denominated in INR.

Foreign currency sensitivity analysis

The Company is mainly exposed to Indian Rupee ("INR") and United States Dollar ("USD").

The following table details the Company's sensitivity to a 10% change in INR against the respective functional currencies of the Company. The sensitivity analysis assumes an instantaneous 10% change in the foreign currency exchange rates from the end of the financial year, with all variables held constant. The results of the model are also constrained by the fact that only monetary items, including external loans and loans to foreign operations, which are denominated in United States dollar ("USD") are included in the analysis. Consequentially, reported changes in the values of some of the financial instruments impacting the results of the sensitivity analysis are not matched with the offsetting changes in the values of certain excluded items that those instruments are designed to finance or hedge.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risks refer to the risks in which the Company encounters difficulties in meeting its short-term obligations. Liquidity risks are managed by matching the payment and receipt cycle.

Adequate financial support from the ultimate holding company has been obtained to enable the Company to continue its operation and discharge its present obligations as and when they fall due. As a result, management does not foresee the Company is exposed to any significant liquidity risk.

15. Fair value of assets and liabilities

The carrying amount of cash and cash equivalents and other receivables, amount owing to ultimate holding company and payables, approximate these respective fair values due to the relative short term maturity of their financial instruments.

16. Capital management policies and objectives

The Company does not have specific capital policy and objective. The Company's capital requirement is met via advance from the ultimate holding company to meet the Company's operating requirements.

The Company's strategy remains unchanged from 2015.

The Company is not subject to any externally imposed capital requirements for the years ended 31 March 2016 and 2015.
